EDITOR'S COMMENTS

I have just returned from a break in Cornwall, a lovely part of the country, and as the deadline for publication beckons this newsletter may not be quite as up-to-date as normal.

All four branches will be holding meetings during September. There will also two additional events being held at the library, one hosted by Library Live and the second by the Lancashire & Cheshire Antiquarian Society celebrating their 140th anniversary.

Our volunteers have again been very busy with the first records being added to our database from the Horwich Locomotive Works project. More details can be found HERE. I have also added updates to the UKBMD site.

There are two short articles from Archives + but please go to their website for further information and two additional publications for this month.

That's it for this month: as I said the deadline beckons.

Barry Henshall

A MESSAGE FROM OUR GENERAL SECRETARY

The best and quickest way to contact the society is by emailing office@mlfhs.org.uk we will then direct you to the relevant person to help you. Our phone is very rarely used.

If possible please use the on-line option on our new website to join or renew your subscription. We use Stripe but you can pay as a guest with your card if you wish.

Have you considered taking out a Bank Standing Order? It means you don't have to think about renewing and you can stop it at any time. Always include your membership number. We can always find it for you should you forget.

There is so much you can learn from our website it seems a shame that members don't make the most of it. From the members area on the website you can make changes to your address and email just log in. It is so easy.

We recently held a talk on how to get the best from the website which was very well received. We are looking at ways to bring this to everyone. Most people were amazed at just what was available on the site and I'm sure went home to try it all out.

If you must pay by cheque please send to:
MLFHS, 17 Fortyacre Drive, Bredbury, SK6 2EZ

DO NOT send it to the office and we no longer take cash at the Helpdesk.
The Click and Collect is now available from our shop.

Best wishes
Elsie

Library Live - Events at Manchester Central Library

Elizabeth Raffald – England's Most Influential Housekeeper

Location Manchester Central Library

Performance Space

Wednesday 13 Sep 2023

18:00 — 19:30

Cost Free

Booking required

Manchester-based historian Neil Buttery presents a talk about the rise & fall of one of Britain's most influential cookery writers, Elizabeth Raffald.

Join historian Neil to explore the life, times and legend of the great Elizabeth Raffald of Manchester. Elizabeth was once a household name, and her list of accomplishments would make even the highest of achievers feel suddenly impotent. After becoming the housekeeper at Arley Hall in Cheshire at age twenty-five, she married and moved to Manchester, transforming the Manchester food scene and business community, writing the first A to Z directory and creating the first domestic servant's registry office, the first temping agency if you will. Not only that, she set up a cookery school and ran a high-class tavern attracting both gentry and nobility. She reputedly gave birth to sixteen daughters, wrote a book on midwifery and was an effective exorciser of evil spirits.

Manchester's Early Role as a Hub for Campaigning for LGBTQ+ Rights

Whilst knowledge of the Stonewall Riots in America and the impact on the LGBTQ+ rights movement is common, few people are aware of the influential campaigns for LGBTQ+ rights that took place in Manchester, particularly in the 60s, 70s, and 80s.

Allan Horsfall, who was a Labour Party member in 1956, is a prominent figure in these campaigns. His entire collection of papers, where a significant amount of information from this blog comes from, is found in the Manchester Central Library Archives. It was such an interesting experience looking through his collection of newspaper clippings, transcripts from interviews and many other letters and articles relating to the LGBTQ+ rights movement in Manchester.

NORTH WEST SOUND HERITAGE

Unlocking our Sound Heritage

Thousands of cassettes, open reels, CDs and MiniDiscs are sitting in archives, museums, libraries and in people's homes all over the UK. All kinds of unique live music, radio and conversation are recorded on these tapes and discs. We've already lost many of the people captured on them. And the British Library estimates that we have fifteen years to preserve the sounds themselves.

That's why the British Library has received funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund to establish Unlocking Our Sound Heritage, an exciting new national project to save thousands sounds which are at risk of being lost forever.

Archives+ is the hub partner for the North West region, which covers Cheshire, Cumbria, Greater Manchester, Lancashire and Merseyside. We'll be digitising around 15,000 recordings on 5,000 cassettes, reels and optical discs held all over the region here at Manchester Central Library.

This is a fascinating site providing a flavour of times gone by. If you are a sword swallower then discover what not to eat and drink before a performance!

Exploring the Secret World of your Freemason Ancestor

by Yetunde Abiola

Freemasonry, the teachings and practices of the secret fraternal order of Free and Accepted Masons, is the largest worldwide secret society. Spread by the advance of the British Empire, this secret order remains most popular in the British Isles and in other countries originally within the empire. Established in England in 1717, the Freemasons are synonymous with elitism, mystery and secrecy. However, Freemasons who believe in a Supreme Divine Being and the immortality of the soul, strongly deny this. They maintain that they are a society deeply rooted in a religious and philosophical system and that this is expressed in their dramatic ceremonies, intended to answer the following questions: Who am I? Why am I here? What is the purpose of life?

Freemasons come from a variety of backgrounds: royalty, presidents, writers, composers, educators, doctors, tradesmen and other cultural, social and civic leaders. There are many famous people who were Freemasons: Oscar Wilde (playwright), Neil Armstrong (astronaut), Louis Armstrong (jazz musician) to name but a few. Freemasonry has a presence all over the world, with a sovereign body in each country called a Grand Lodge; in the United States there is one Grand Lodge for each state. Most of the membership (an estimated six million) is in the USA and Canada.

Edward the VII, King of Great Britain

Do you wish to research the masonic past of an individual in your family? Do you suspect that your ancestor may have been a Freemason? Freemasons often kept details about their involvement with the fraternity private from their families and non-Freemason friends. If your relative was a Freemason, chances are that there will be a record of their masonic life out there, waiting to be uncovered.

Why did your ancestor join the Freemasons? Some of the reasons could be: for brotherhood and friendship, to contribute to charitable causes (fundraising events, scholarships/grants, training and apprenticeships); character building and self-confidence to be a better person; for entertainment (ceremonies, parties, balls and other events); the very impressive regalia (aprons, jewels and other accessories); to be part of the moral fabric of society or to meet in unity and peace with people from all walks of life, irrespective of race, class and social background.

First things first, oral history. When the opportunity arises, interview relatives to get some initial information and see if there is any to find. This must be done with sensitivity and respect. Simple and well thought out questioning is needed, one question at a time. Then, you will need to search for the name of your relative in the relevant membership registers and other available records. Freemasons kept their involvement with the fraternity a secret, but it was not uncommon for them to encourage other menfolk to join the brotherhood. It is also well worth reading up as much as you can on Freemasonry to inform your search; there is a lot to read in libraries, archives and online. Here are two tried and tested free online resources: Archive.org <https://archive.org/details/cu31924030281459> and Google Books <https://books.google.co.uk/?hl=en>.

Grand Lodges often kept records of their membership, however, searching for masonic records can be challenging, but with persistence and focus you can reveal unknown and useful information about an ancestor. So, what next? Do you really need to know any more?

Here are some useful tips:

- ◇ ask your local Grand Lodge whether your relative was a member. Keep in mind that lodges get a lot of requests for help in genealogical searches, so patience is needed.

Really Useful Bulletin

- ◇ remember to provide as much information about your relative as you can: full name; birth and death dates; profession, where he/she lived and religion. Review your notes often and think creatively.
- ◇ search for lists and registration records of Grand Lodges on the internet – Ancestry.com houses membership registers for England and Wales and Ireland. https://www.ancestry.co.uk/search/categories/freemason\_registers/ [below]

- ◇ other sources are: Pietre-Stones Review of Freemasonry <http://www.freemasons-freemasonry.com/>, Masonic Periodicals Online www.masonicperiodicals.com and Who's Who in Freemasonry, 1913-1914; Masonic Who's Who, 1926 www.thegenealogist.co.uk
- ◇ do not overlook social media—the Grand Lodge you are interested in may have a Facebook page. Run a search and message the page's administrator and members asking for information. It is always worth a try.

We can learn a lot about our Freemason ancestors from the beautiful regalia and jewels they wore—rings, lapel pins, tie tacks and other items. This confirmed their involvement, status, order and the degree: 1° Entered Apprentice, 2° Fellowcraft or 3° Master Mason.

Really Useful Bulletin

Very few Grand Lodges accepted women, however, female family members may recall being asked to join the Order of the Eastern Star, a women’s group affiliated to the Masons. The Order of the Eastern Star is about charity, service and fellowship and was initiated by Dr Bob Morris and his wife Charlotte in the mid-nineteenth century. There is also the Order of Women Freemasons which was founded in 1908. The Order of Women Freemasons initially had both men and women as members, but by 1935 it became an exclusively female organisation.

For some people, the discovery of a Freemason ancestor may bring about feelings of suspicion, shock, embarrassment or shame. For others it is just a matter of fact. What do you do next? Do you really need to know more? You may be hesitant on whether to tell the family or wondering how to present this information on the family tree. You can find some useful chapters on ethical dilemmas in the following books by Dr. Penny Walters: Ethical Dilemmas in Genealogy and The Psychology of Searching, both available in paperback and on Kindle from Amazon.

More and more information is being made available for family historians to explore and learn about their ancestors and their past lives. We are increasingly finding ourselves armed with specific information about our ancestors. This encourages us to look more closely and differently at our family histories and at the world we live in. Understanding who we are and where we come from helps in providing a great sense of self, identity and belonging. For most of us, the ideal is that we should appreciate and celebrate who we are, and where we come from.

Devon Family History Society

Tree House in Exeter is the research centre of Devon Family History Society. We are open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays to welcome visitors. Although our speciality is Devon research, we are happy to help people whose ancestors are from other counties.

Over the years, our members have transcribed hundreds of thousands of Devon records which are available to search at Tree House. We have access to the usual commercial websites and we are a FamilySearch Affiliate Library. Our own library is also a fantastic resource – the catalogue is available on our website under the Tree House tab. We are also happy to answer queries and receive research requests by email, phone or by letter or you can book a one-to-one Zoom session with one of our experienced volunteers.

The last few years have presented all family history societies with challenges but also with opportunities. Devon Family History Society instigated regular Zoom meetings early in lockdown and these have been very successful. For the first time, it has enabled members who live far away from Devon to play an active role in the society. We also host small group meetings which meet online to chat about a group of Devon parishes. These now cover the whole county and its 500+ parishes and have proved mutually beneficial to people who have research interests in the locality as well as local inhabitants. All these meetings are open to everyone, please look at our website for details of the programme and how to join

<https://www.devonfhs.org.uk/meetings/>

These online meetings have now been joined by face-to-face meetings too.

Our volunteers are often out and about promoting family history to beginners and more experienced researchers alike and raising the profile of the Society. In September we will be at the Romany and Traveller FHS's day at the Mint in Exeter on 16th (see events page) and the same weekend, if you are in north Devon please come and see us at the Great Hobby Weekend at RHS Rosemoor (admission charges apply).

Ormskirk and District Family History Society

We aim to produce a series of two short publications on various aspects of life and times in the west Lancashire area over the past three centuries, using our unique collection of material and resources. This will involve researching our subject, gathering together all the information we have and verifying the authenticity of the information. With the use of a desktop publishing programme this will then be formatted into a book of approximately twenty pages. The publications will be:

- ◇ Interesting to the general public
- ◇ Historically accurate
- ◇ Attractive and engaging
- ◇ Enjoyable to read
- ◇ Freely available

The inspiration behind this project is our need to share the wide range of material we hold in our library. At present it is seen by the relatively few people who visit.

Although we are continually expanding our website, this is seen mainly by those members with digital skills, leaving a huge number of local people who can't access this material.

In undertaking this project we will share images, stories and information of long ago in west Lancashire, keeping alive the history and heritage of the area.

We, as a society, will benefit from new skills learned, increased publicity and improved profile and be doing something we are passionate about.

The publications will help people identify more with their community and gain a sense of the of the importance of the area in previous centuries.

A more civic minded population who will take pride in where they live and want to be more involved, resulting in economic benefits and profile.

Our heritage is important and must be preserved.

We estimate that we will need £3084 to enable us to produce two small books, which will be available to our members and the public at no cost.

We have applied to Lancashire County Council for a grant towards this, and if we can raise fifty per cent of the money they will hopefully match fund up to fifty per cent, depending on the size of their budget.

To achieve this project we are trying to raise funds via a Spacehive Crowdfunding platform. Our idea is to share the history of west Lancashire as far and wide as possible in an easily readable paper format.

Full details of the project are at www.spacehive.com/sharing-west-lancs-historical-archives

Family History Society of Cheshire

Celebrating in Crewe

Here in Cheshire, and especially in Crewe, there is great excitement about celebrating the 180 years of Crewe Works. The Crewe Heritage Centre has a summer of events to demonstrate how locomotives were a catalyst for change in the town. There is a community-led exhibition Forging History – 180 Years of Crewe Works which will tell the story of how the works shaped the development of Crewe into becoming one of Britain's key industrial engineering towns.

Crewe Works early 1920s

The Heritage Open Day fair is on Saturday 9th September – see events listing—at the Centre.

FHS of Cheshire has been instrumental in helping those with railway connections to discover their ancestors using some of the unique records held at its Crewe Research Centre and drawing on the vast breadth of our volunteers' tacit knowledge. To mark Heritage Open Days, the society's Crewe research centre will be open on Monday 11th, Tuesday 12th and Thursday 14th September between 10.30am and 3.30pm for members and non-members alike to visit and discover what is on offer in terms of physical records, online records and also to receive assistance from FHSC volunteers. See events pages.

We really are busy during HODs week! Women Educating Cheshire: The History of the Cheshire County

Training College, Crewe [1908-1974] is a talk being presented by our very own Margaret Roberts on the evening of Monday 11th at the Crewe Engineering and Design University Technical College. This is a fascinating talk on the lives of the women who trained to be teachers at Crewe Training College, which was established in 1908 when lectures originally took place at the Mechanics Institute. Early picture of the College buildings above (now demolished). Follow the link on events pages.

Finally, FHS of Cheshire is delighted to be welcoming Mike Esbester of the Railway Work, Life and Death Project who, together with local railway historian Di Drummond, Reg Instone of the LNWR Society, and Margaret Roberts of FHSC will be presenting an afternoon and evening of workshops entitled Crewe: Your Railway, Your Family. Held at Crewe's Engineering and Design University Technical College on Thursday 14th September. The event will allow visitors to learn more about Crewe's railway heritage, working on the railways and tracing your railways ancestors. The format will be a series of talks to help visitors understand more about the important railway history of Crewe, how it fits into the national picture, what work on the railways in and around Crewe involved and how to find more about your own railway ancestors. When not giving talks the presenters will be available to discuss all things Crewe, railway and family history with you. There are a few last minute timings to be firmed up – see events pages.
